

Introduction to the forum management module

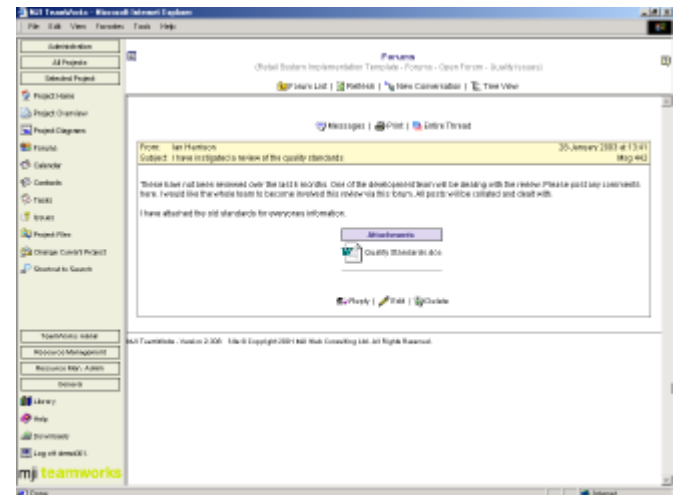

The forum management module of MJI TeamWorks provides organisations with a collaboration environment within which teams can discuss projects, tasks, work items and issues.

Forums provide a richer communication medium than email and ensures that project discussions and decisions are stored in a central searchable repository.

- Online forums support shared working
- Provide a rich communication medium
- Invite only and open forums supported
- Moderated and un-moderated forums supported
- Attach documents and notes to forum posts
- Users can quickly identify any new forums they are not yet subscribed to
- Multiple forum views including list view and tree view
